RESEARCH AND IDEAS

I started to search applications from the internet, i looked for a travel application but there wasnt any good app that i want.
Then, i decided to create an application which i want. I did interview but i changed my application after my interview. So, it did not work but i choose to create an application like a magazine and it has to be travel app. People would like to share photos online in these years. They can create their photo style and they also like travelling. Pikey can make this real. Pikey is a magazine application which has photo sharing as an archive, checking places which you go, make new friends and blogging...
Pikey is like an online diary about travelling. Thats why it is like a magazine.

What have you found?
A guide to London, a guide to life, and a guide to travelling as far away as possible from both of the previous two.

Ambitious? Yes. Impossible? Probably. But why not try?

Some of the articles are reviews, some stories, most start as reviews then turn into stories thus hurtling headlong into a vernacular identity crisis that will probably cause some internet browsers to crash.

FINAL DESIGN

I craated a travel application like a magazine. I chose colours from April Greiman which is my inspirational designer. Also, i chose her style. There is a content card as photos, it looks like a polaroid, they can share where they go. Location part shows locations to us whenever they go and check-in. Blog part is a blog that people write. Also, you can make new friends and to send text each other.

CRITICAL REFLECTION

Pikey is an application which people share everything online and make new friends. I tried to show like a real magazine. Hopefully, i did.
